Red Cross Training

A black and white photograph showing a person in a white lab coat, likely a healthcare professional, performing CPR on a mannequin. The person's hands are positioned on the mannequin's chest, and their face is partially visible as they lean over. The background is blurred, focusing attention on the action.

Learn to Save Lives

The American Red Cross First Aid/CPR/AED program is designed to help participants recognize and respond appropriately to cardiac, breathing and first aid emergencies.

The courses in this program teach participants the knowledge and skills needed to give immediate care to an injured or ill person when minutes matter, and to decide whether advanced medical care is needed.

Adult and Pediatric options available.
